As Aşiyân Music Association; it aims to protect our Turkish music and works to find out our musical values, also to work on education and make the leading investments for the development of the country. Thus, we mind the UNESCO Creative Cities Network Program, which aims to promote the creative, economic and social potential of cultural industries caring as a universal contribution to cultural diversity; we believe that the thematic areas and the facilities they contain in will lead cities to the creative industry sector with their talents and energy.

Being the recognized centre of music creation activities, and international experience in organizing music festivals, events and cultural areas that are suitable for making and listening to music with informal structures that are fed from historical and cultural wealth for music education, we welcome Şanlıurfa's application to the UNESCO Creative Cities Network.

With the inclusion of the Creative Cities Network in the field of music in the direction of UNESCO 2030 agenda, We believe that Şanlıurfa will create a multicultural musical added value by collaborating with other cities in order to work in the field of creative industries and to be a key component of cultural diversity and sustainable urban development in the light of the musical and cultural values where it possesses.
